

Constructing monotone quantities in geometric flows via the Boltzmann entropy

Hongxin GUO (Wenzhou University, Zhejiang, China)

Abstract. We present a method to construct monotone quantities in various geometric flows by studying the Boltzmann entropy of some probability measure which comes naturally from the positive solution of an adjoint heat equation of the flow.